At Mobile Excitation Services we are committed to helping plants with their mobile exciter needs. The last position any plant wants to be in is to have an emergency and try to find a mobile exciter during a peak demand season. MOBEX has solutions that allow your company to position our units in place and potentially avoid a costly outage or a long term outage situation. At MOBEX we want to help minimize your risks. We are always willing to work with small generation companies as well as large utilities. We are an independent choice of Mobile Excitation Rental.

If you would like to discuss with us your plants specific concerns or needs we can work with you. Our prices are competitive and your company will not be placed in a obligated position to use our repair services.
